A new adventure awaits you this summer!

The Centre for Continuing Education Studies (CES) at LUMS is excited to announce the details of the much-awaited Summer School at LUMS 2023!

Gear up to learn in an intellectually stimulating environment and experience the social and academic opportunities a college education offers.

Our courses, offered from a diverse range of disciplines, are designed to equip students with advanced learning skills and assist aspiring college students in preparing for the application season.

CORE COURSES

Students will get the chance to learn versatile skills beneficial for their academic programmes and personal and professional development through several core courses in the Summer School.

Accordingly, the core courses will center upon dialogues and conversations that animate our college classrooms, including discourse on local and global socio-political issues that concern the world. Our college coaching sessions will guide students regarding essential aspects of the college application process, such as writing a personal statement or academic and research essays and developing effective learning techniques for a college education.

Art Module

Our performing and visual arts courses will help students understand creative techniques, refine their skills, and create a portfolio for college applications, along with skill-based development for a future career in filmmaking and photography
